Trastworthy Information Not Easily Ob tained-Complications Which May Arise with England Sefore the Trouble is Over. The revolution in San Domingo is still raging, but continues to be confined to the in- the construction of an additional section of the terior. Were it not for the stagnation of business visitors at the seaports would not imagine that anything unusual was taking place. No one is heard speaking publicly about the revo-lution, unless it be some Government agent circulating iles. metimes this rule is relaxed. It is still very difficult to procure trustworthy information. False reports are circulated by both sides. Gen. Hourroux, who imitates a distinguished English commander in prophesying that on certain dates he will have accomplished certain things, has so far proved as unsuccessful in his prophecies as his brother prophet. In the beginning of August, on his arrival at La Vega, "the Napoleon of the West Indies," as his teadles call him, announced that "within twenty days the revolution would be over and its leaders driven to refuge in the woods of the Morro at Monte Christi," and then, it is said, took steps for the renewal and clearer woods of the Morro at Monte Christi," and then, it is said, took steps for the renewal and clearer understanding of a treaty with Hayti, whereby this asylum of political refugees from either country is denied in the other. From what can be learned, he has done a hasolutely nothing toward carrying out his announced intention; on the contrary, he has been defeated in every important engagement that has been fought. From In Vega he merched to Moca, and stayed there about twenty days. Meanwhile his friends were murmuring and wanting an explanation of his reason for not marching to the relief of Santiago, the roads to which were in the hands of the Moya party, and where the besieged were in a bad state for provisions.

The Moya party did not want to occupy the town, being fearful that if they did they might in turn be heamed in by the Government troops, and find themselves in the position now occupied by the others.

On Aug. 25, Heurreux marched to attack the Moya troops encamped at a place called Juacamal, near Santiago. He was defeated, and lost a number of men, and two of his most important Generals, Paulin Espailint and Garcia, were taken prisoners. The revolutionists have not got a corden of troops surrounding Santiago, though they have strong bodies of men on all the roads leading that the town, den. He order has been deaded, and lost a corden of troops surrounding Santiago, though they have strong bodies of men on all the roads leading that the town. Gen. Heurreux managed to get through with about 300 men, and stayed in the town until the night of the 28th, when, during a sovere thunder storm, he got out and made his way back to Moca. He evidently found Santiago not in a position to sustain a siege. When he got back to Moca he at once started for Puerto Plata, secompanied by Gen. Fred Lithgow, to confer with Gen. Luperon, his fellow dictater. By taking a circuitous route and avoiding the high read they resched Puerto Plata, the former commander of that post, Gen. Juan Garrido, having been attended to the resu considered that his services as a naval leader would be of greater advantage to his party. It may also have occurred to him that there would be more dignity, glory, &c., obtainable as the only Admiral of his side than as only one of an army of Generals.

Mr. Breffet and some of his men, having learned that the schooner Roma was loading tobacco at Isabella, a port between Puerto Plata and Monte Christi, proceeded to that place, and took possession of the vessel and cargo. The Admiral then made sail with his prize for Monte Christi the only seaport of the revolutionists), discharged the cargo, was received with great rejoicing and immediately appointed commander of the port. Capt. Philips, the master of the schooner, took advantage of the celebration to steal away in the darkness of the night and made sail for Turk's Island, where he anchored his schooner in safety, having, however, left his cargo of tobacco in the hands of the Teneny. The Roma is owned in Puerto Plata and was loading for that place.

A few days afterward the schooner Olivia, under the English flag, and owned in Turk's Island, was soized by Admiral Breffet, who, it is stated, put her Captain (Bassett) in jail, embarked himself the tobacco taken from the Roma, $1,000 in Maxican silver, and a Capt. Rackley as navigator and set out for Turk's Island with the intention of selling the tobacco and, with the proceeds and the cash in hand, buying arms and provisions for his party.

BET ON FIRE BY LIGHTNING. Five Oil Wells Ignited by Thunderbolts-

An Exciting Scene. LIMA, Ohio, Sept. 23 .- This morning at 7 o'clock this city was startled by a terrific clap of thunder. In a few moments black clouds of smoke were seen rolling up from one of the oil wells on the Bromerton land. The fire at once communicated with the tank, and in a few minutes all was on fire. At the same time the gas in the tank, 800 yards west, ignited. The wells, machinery, tanks, and about 2,400 bar-

SOMETHING MUST BE DONE.

. Hig Effort will be Made to Have a Meeting of the Subway Company To-morrow. It is announced that the Consolidated Telegraph and Electrical Subway Company, the contracting company under the Electrical Subway Commission, will make another effort to hold a meeting to-morrow. The company is under instructions to begin on Tuesday next Sixth avenue subway, to extend from Twentythird street down to Carmine street. It is bound under its $500,000 bond to go on with this work in accordance with the instructions. It cannot do so in its present condition; and how to better that condition is a conundrum to be tackled to-morrow if anybody can be got to the meeting to consider it. The subbeing built on credit, to be ultimately paid for in stocks or bonds of the company. When those contracts were made it was supposed that the actual beginning of work would inspire a little public confidence in the company and invite some capital into its treasury. But the reverse has actually been the result. The slow progress of the work, and the notoriously worthless character of the material used for the conduit-mistakenly supposed to be as-

The slow progress of the work, and the notoriously worthless character of the material used for the conduit—mistakenly supposed to be asphaltum—has repelled whatever of confidence was repeased in the company, and it is now poorer off in that respect than ever.

The company has asver entered into a written contract with Dorsett or his representatives for the use of his patent coal-tar pitch, but merely made a verbal bargain for one thousand feet of it as an experiment. It has been so universally condemned by the electrical companies who are to be compelled to use the subway, and from whom its revenues are to be derived, that it has at last dawned upon the comprehension of the managers of the enterprise that to continue its use will merely be to aggravate the growing hostility to the subway and render more questionable the possibility of even comessiling its use. But said experiment that it is impracticable to lay the stuff with any degree of rapplity, even were its character all that could be desired.

The western Union Telegraph Company has received a termit from the Commissioner of Public Works authorizing it to tear up Broadway where necessary to make repairs to lisprivate subway, extending from Dey street to Twonty-third street. This subway is only used at present for pneumatic tubes, but it is provided with ducts for telegraph cables, into which the company contemplates drawing cables at an early day. The repairs now contemplated are probably preliminary to its use for telegraphic purposes.

In regard to the validity of the permit issued by Squire to the Subway people to open Nixth avenue, Commissioner Newton said yesterday that it was not worth talking about. The question was suggested by Mr. Shelbourne of the Electric Lines Company, and he had submitted the abstract question to the Corporation Counsel, whose opinion was a general one, and not based on any particular case. The Commissioner seemed to intimate that, if necessary, a new permit could be given to the Subway commission is considering the proprie

Commissioner Brennan said that the cards describing the two Catharine Cahillis had probably been mixed when the living Catharine Cahili was taken to Hart's Island. The decased Catharine Cahill had probably remained at Blackwell's Island as Patrick Cahill's sister. The blunder will be investigated.

FRIGHTENED BY A FOOL. Charleston's People Unnerved by the Wig-glas Prediction. CHARLESTON, Sept. 23 .- The Wiggins prediction has done more to unnerve the people of Charleston than all the stesmic disturbances that have occurred since Sept 1. It is useless to say that there can be no foundation for the pre-liction. Even men who know the utter ab-surdity of it, but who have been through the earthquake, were unnerved at reading it. The women and children are utterly prostrated. The News and Courier this morning tried to show the Wiggins prophecy to be without founwith men, women, and children who have been with men, women, and children who have been living on the brink of a crater for nearly a month. Their state of mind cannot be described. attend to their business. Their state of mind cannot be described.

ANOTHER GENERAL BLAUGHTER OF THE FAVORITES AT GRAVESLAD. Bessle June the Only One to Reward her

A heavy track caused many to go home with light pockets from the races of the Brooklyn Jockey Club yesterday, especially those who placed their money on the favorites. The first race was reduced to a match between Burch, with McLaughlin up, and Climax, with dusky Hamilton in the saddle. Judging from previous performances, the knowing ones made Burch a strong favorite. Hamilton took the lead on Climax, while the flag was dipping, brother Michael had notified their friends to attend the wake on Wednesday night and had caused a notice of the funeral on Thursday to be printed in an afternoon paper.

Mrs. Cabili found out shortly after the body had been placed in her 'parior that it bore no resemblance to her sister-in-law, and Patrick's other sister, who is a Bister of Charity, declared positively that the body was not that of her insance relative. Patrick and Michael were equally certain that a mistake had been made, and the undertaker took the body back to his show, returned it to the rude pine coffin, and had it conveyed to the Morgue.

The inscription on the card tacked on the head of the coffin showed that the body was that of Catharine Cahill, who had been four years in the asylum and twelve in this country, and that she was related to Lawrence Cahill does not live there.

Patrick Cahill went yesterday with his and had the track all to himself, finishing in a of the Eighth Special, three-quarters of a mile, in 1:17, the same time that Burch was beaten in his race at a like distance. The event of the day, and the only one in which great excitement arose, was the Ninth Special, at a mile and a furiong. Three only started out of ten entries. McLaughlin rode Millie, the favorite; Garrison was upon Barnum, second choice, and energetic Fitzpatrick piloted Elkwood. Fitzpatrick started with the lead at an easy pace, which he quickened at the club-house turn, opening a gap of three lengths, Millie trailing a length behind Barnum. No change in the positions occurred until the racers were a furiong from home. Then Barnum led Eikwood by a neck and shoulders in front of Efawood. The favorite was twenty lengths behind. Barnum and Eikwood made the only lapping finish of the six races. The summaries follow:

Mays, on the other hand, did very clever work in holding the visitors down to four hits. It was too cold to play, and as the clubs wanted to go West last night the game was called at the end of the sixth inuing. The score:

As compared with vesterday's figures there was a considerable decrease in the volume of trading on the Stock Exchange to-day. With three exceptions the falling off in the usually active stocks was material. The exceptions were Reading, Erie, and New York and New England. The first two supplied fully one-half of the transactions and to a large extent determined the course of the market. The speculation in them was animated; in fact at times it must have seemed wild even to the ordinary statistician. The new arguments adranced in favor of Reading were that the large buyers of yesterday were identified with the syndicate underwriting the plan of reorganization, and that London was short of a large line of the stock and was to be forced to cover. The points to buy the stock are so positive and numerous that those who distribute them have unfortunately aroused suspicions that in some cases may serve to thwart the seeming philanthropic in tention. The value to any insolvent corporation of such a reorganization as Reading is about to undergo is not to be underestimated. about to undergo is not to be underestimated, but at the same time the possibility of promptly discounting in the market results that can be attained only in years is worth considering. The same view may be taken of the speculation in Frie common, which, in connection with talk of increased earnings, improved confireffle, and a prospective alliance with the New York and New England read, carried the price to 36%. The new second conscibences of the company, upon which, for the first time in several years, the company has undertaken to nay the interest in cash, did not sympathize with the movement in the stocks uttil after midday, and even then indifferently. Foreign houses were the conspicuous dealers in both Frie and Reading, and soid both heavily. They also bought, but the demands that these same concerns are making in the sterling exchange market would seem to indicate that for the moment the foreign selling of our securities largely exceeds the buying. While the two stocks mentioned were progressing toward higher prices the rest of the active list gave here and there evidence of exhaustion. The general appearance was of ilrumess, yet prices were slowly and constantly shaded until the general appearance was of ilrumess, yet prices were slowly and constantly shaded until the leaders became more pronounced. Exceptions may be noted in favor of Jorsey Central. Delaware and Hudson, New York and New England, and Western Union. They closed slightly higher as against fractional losses recorded by the others that brought the average of prices somewhat below yesterday's. The specialties were again a feature to-day, and fresh activity was aroused in several, noticeably Chesapeake and Ohio issues. The most positive movements were developed in St. Louis and San Francisco preferred and in East Tennesseo second preferred, both of which closed higher. Taken as a whole, the market showed a good deal of irregularity, while the distribution of the transactions was not altograther natural. A somewhat stiffer money market and increased activity in the sterling exchange market at advancing quotations were not with the other circumstances noted calculated to encourage the speculative holders of stocks. The closing was in the main steady.
